Objectives and rationale of the Lao

The ALiSEA Lao aims to become the leading knowledge resource on agroecology in the Mekong Region. It seeks to facilitate knowledge-sharing and increase the visibility of local and national experience and insights. By promoting a diverse range of knowledge, the hub aspires to inspire stakeholders and foster networking among all actors interested or involved in agroecology.

ALiSEA Knowledge Hub

The essential digital gateway to data, information and knowledge on agroecology in Southeast Asia.

Inspiring stakeholders to promote and adopt agroecological practices.

Challenges and Gaps

- Limited Lao-language materials (most content in English).
- Many members have knowledge products but haven't been collected and uploaded to the Hub.
- Fragmented documentation of local innovations and Indigenous knowledge.

Future Directions & Call for Contribution

Let's enrich Lao's Agroecology Knowledge Hub!

Members are encouraged to:

- 1. Submit your case studies, research papers, manuals, reports, training videos: <https://ee-eu.kobotoolbox.org/x/lgENFP9C>
- 2. Develop knowledge products, using ALiSEA guidelines
- 3. Translate/localize content into Laos.
- 4. Document local innovations & Indigenous practices.
- 5. Engage in ALiSEA's webinars and peer-learning activities.
- 6. Use the Hub for visibility, networking, and policy dialogue.
- 7. Join the expert database to share knowledge and build collaboration in the region

Share. Learn. Grow Together

Thank you very much!
